

What's the difference between extra voip line and extra...

Author:

www.freespeech.co.uk

Created On: 08 Aug 2008 10:39 AM

An extra "voip line" provides you with a SIP VoIP account for logging in a new VoIP phone, it's basically a VoIP extension (it comes with an 0844 number).

An extra "phone number" is a number which attaches to a "voip line", you can have several numbers attached to a single "voip line".